

SUMMER

By Jennifer and Colin Hutton

Saturday 26th March 2005 – Conservatory and Homestead

The ceremony was perfect. Every word giving us a warm calmness inside, knowing that on our wedding day, we fulfil what God had planned for us from the beginning of time – together in the spiritual union of friendship and love. Finally it was official, “You may kiss your bride”. We lit the unity candles, signed the register and amidst a shower of rose petals, joined our loved ones outside:

“Baby you’re all that I want, when you’re lying here in my arms. I’m finding it hard to believe we are in heaven”

With all eyes focused on us, we stepped on to the dance floor. My husband embraced me in his arms and I felt as though we were the only two people in the room – we were in heaven. It was the most romantic dance two people in love had ever danced.

The perfect wedding – a wonderful feeling of satisfaction knowing that the whole day from beginning to end was just as we had planned it – reflecting our love in every detail – the perfect beginning to the rest of our lives together.
