Bringing this theme to life required the shared vision and creative interpretation of many partners and the end product, the sum of many small parts, was simply enchanting. Apart from the awesome setting, there was the challenge of transporting the guests from the realities and pressures of daily life into this world that many of us have simply forgotten about. The invitations and personalised stationery, fusing animation and real pictures of the couple in the Oakfield gardens in a beautiful storybook, as well as the flowers and unique decor created the backdrop for a day which will be remembered by every guest as "out of this world."
